Italian Lessons in Italy

Hi,
I'm Antonio Libertino, born and raised in Tropea, my beloved land.

I've been teaching Italian for 4 years, and I really love teaching my language to people who love all things Italian, the people, history and culture. After graduating in Sicily, I started teaching in a private school in Tropea, where I and my students had a great time learning Italian. I also got the DITALS certificate Level II, which is issued by the University of Siena for Foreigners, and it tests theoretical and practical knowledge of candidates in the field of teaching Italian to foreigners.

Lessons I'm offering you are flexibly adapted to your needs and level. You can choose a highly intensive course, or to go at a more leisurely pace. Lessons will be focused on the four main skills (listening, speaking, reading, writing). Special needs can be catered for if you give advanced notice of your requirements. All teaching material is provided with the lessons.

Learn Italian on the countryside in a wonderful Villa:

Italiano a casa mia - Italian at my place

Svegliati! You are going to get breakfast with your teacher! Cornetto, cappuccino and let's go and learn Italian. Non need to walk to school, your teacher is already there.

That is the scenario you are going to live at la casa di Calliope, a wonderful villa on the countryside between Tropea and Capo Vaticano. Four rooms, two with bathroom inside and two with shared one. People lodging in this newbitt villa get all the attention the teacher could give and enjoy sun and our garden. The seaside is only 700 meters away so you just walk 15 minutes.

Plus, the bed and breakfast is open to Italian people as well. It could happen that you share the apartment with true Italian people. What could be better than this to improve your Italian?
